HAGER MADE GREAT HIT.

Two Thousand People Heard His Speech at Tabernacle Saturday Evening.

EVERYBODY PLEASSED.

Those who went to hear Judge S. W. Hager, the Democratic nominee for Governor speak Saturday, expecting his speech to be merely a business man's talk, were most agreeably surprised. Judge Hager made by long odds the best campaign speech that has been heard here this year. As a speaker he is self-possessed and easy in his delivery, his enunciation is clear and distinct, his voice strong and melodious, his gestures are graceful and forceful and he possesses a fund of anecdotes that kept his audience in a good humor for nearly two hours. He displayed a knowledge of classics and history that added much to the charm of his address, which at times contained flights of eloquence that called forth loud applause. Judge Hager is one of the handsomest men in Kentucky and he not only talked, but looked like a governor. His speech was the same array of facts, figures and unanswerable arguments that he has hurled at his opponent all over the state. His speech in all its essential parts has been published heretofore in the Kentuckian. Fully 2,000 persons heard the speech and many who went in idle curiosity left cheering for "the next Governor." No more effective and universally pleasing speech has been heard here for years. It was a brilliant close to the campaign and there will be but few bolters at the polls to day among the 3,500 gallant Democrats of Christian county. Before this paper reaches many of its subscribers, Judge Hager will have been elected governor of Kentucky.

THREW A ROCK

Into the Window of An I. C. Coach.

Some person threw a rock into the window of the I. C. passenger coach Sunday evening about 6 o'clock, just before the train reached Green's station. The stone was as large as a man's fist and shattered the glass. J. H. Williams, a St. Louis drummer, was in the seat next to the aisle and his face was cut by flying glass. The missile passed behind him and struck a passenger named P. C. Dix in the side. Dix was on the opposite side, one seat back of Williams. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bacon were two seats in front of Dix, the intervening seat being vacant. The train was running 35 miles an hour and no stop was made.

On The Bench.

County Judge James Breathitt, who got through stumping the state for his party returned to the city, Friday. He was on the bench yesterday, it being court day.

THE ATHENAEUM.

Will Meet At Hotel Latham Thursday Night.

There will be two papers read at the November meeting of the Athenaeum Thursday night. Those on the program are Mr. W. T. Tandy and Dr. T. W. Biskie. They have not announced the subjects of their papers. The usual dinner will be served at seven o'clock in the ordinary by the new landlord, Mr. Thompson.

NIGHT RIDERS STILL AT IT.

DESTROY HIS BUSINESS

The night riders are still persecuting H. C. Wallis, of Rinaldo, Lyon county. Last week they made a third raid into the neighborhood and gave people along their route orders not to buy merchandise of Mr. Wallis. They visited several houses just across the line in Trigg county. The first move against him was in the fall of 1906 when a threatening letter was written to him from Wallonia, which several experts identified as the handwriting of Esq. N. E. Nabh. March 1, 1907, three hogheads of his tobacco were rolled into the Cumberland river. A little later his barn was burned with 7,000 pounds of tobacco.

They also stopped all of his hands from working for him and have interfered with his mercantile business in every way they could. Mr. Wallis estimates his damages up to the present time at $2,000 and the marauders have not stopped yet in their persecutions.

DEATH OF MRS. DAY.

Passed Away After Illness of Two Years.

Mrs. C. M. Day died at her home in Henderson last Thursday of nephritis, from which she had been a sufferer for about two years. Her husband and a little son three years old survive. Mr. and Mrs. Day formerly lived at Crofton, where Mr. Day was L. & N. agent for several years, and the remains were brought there and interred Friday. The funeral took place in the Crofton Christian church, of which the deceased was a member. Mrs. Day was a daughter of Thomas Davis, of St. Charles.

Enlists in U. S. Navy.

Mr. R. V. Hanbery, who has been employed in McGrew's machine shop for the past four years, left Monday morning for Boston, Mass., where he will enlist in the U. S. Navy as a machinist. Mr. Hanbery is a son of Mr. D. W. Hanbery, of this city.

DR. E. R. COOK PASSED AWAY

Venerable Citizen Succumbs to the Infirmities of Age.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON.

Had Been a Resident of the County and City For Nearly 60 Years.

Dr. E. R. Cook died Saturday afternoon at his home on Seventh street, from the infirmities of age. Since the death of his wife last year he had been in poor health and broken in spirit. He had been confined to his room most of the time. His death was not expected so soon, but was not a surprise. He was down in town a day or two before his death feeling somewhat better than usual. The sinking spell that ended his life prostrated him Saturday morning and he died before his sons who live in other states could reach his bedside.

Dr. Elwin R. Cook was born in Bedford county, Va., April 11, 1824. He was a son of Wm. Cook, a lawyer, who died in 1847. His grandfather, was Benjamin Cook. Dr. Cook's mother was a daughter of Maj. Isaac Otey. He was one of nine children. He came to Christian county prior to 1850 and located a few miles east of the city. Dr. Cook was a graduate from the Pennsylvania Medical University, in 1847. He practiced medicine for ten years from his home in the country and during the civil war continued his practice in Hopkinsville. After the war he devoted his attention to his farming interests, operating a fine farm of 500 acres. He married Miss Martha Upshur Campbell, a daughter of Hon. John P. Campbell, Sr. The couple were the parents of 11 children, four of whom survive, viz: Walter C., Frank P., Robert L. and James O. Cook. About twenty years ago the family moved into the city again, occupying a handsome home on East Seventh street. Here Mrs. Cook died suddenly about fifteen months ago. His youngest son, Jas. O. Cook, went to live in the family home and Dr. Cook lived with him, tenderly and lovingly cared for as he neared the end of life.

Dr. Cook was a man of warm friendships, of strong character, generous impulses and of a high sense of honor. He was a member of the Masonic order.

Funeral services were held at the family residence yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, by Rev. Millard A. Jenkins, of the Baptist church. The interment took place in Riverside cemetery.

Pike-Sweeney.

County Clerk Campbell issued license last Friday for the marriage of Mr. William Pike and Miss Laura Sweeney, both of this county.

WILL CONTEST

Papers Filed Contesting Will of George Trice.

Papers have been filed with the circuit clerk contesting the will of George Trice, col., who died at Pemroke last month, at the age of 90 years. Appellants allege that the paper probated as the last will and testament of the appellee, in which Mrs. Ada Jones was named as sole devisee, was not his will and that the devisee is not an heir at law of the said Trice. They further allege that at the time the papers were written Trice did not have mental capacity sufficient to make an intelligent will and that he was persuaded and induced to sign same through undue influence. Appellants pray that the judgment of the court establishing said paper be set aside and declared not to be his true will.

THE BATTLE OF BALLOTS

Twelve States Will Hold Elections for Various Offices To-day.

KENTUCKY ALL RIGHT.

Democratic Ticket Will Win By Eighteen Thousand Majority.

Voters in twelve states will cast their ballots on To-day. In Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Maryland, Mississippi and Kentucky a Governor and other State officers are to be chosen; in New Jersey, a Governor only; in New York, two Associate Justices of the Court of Appeals; in Pennsylvania, a State Treasurer, and in Nebraska, a Railroad Commissioner and two Regents of the State University. In Ohio, Utah and California, municipal officers are to be selected, while in New York county a number of Judges and Sheriff are to be voted for.

In Kentucky the outlook for Democratic success has grown brighter from day to day and the election of the Democratic ticket is considered practically certain.

The Republicans tried another of the numerous tricks Saturday and sent out two long telegrams affirming that the anti-saloon league had been apprised of a compact in the State between Democratic candidates and brewery and liquor interests. The dispatch said that the liquor people had been promised protection in return for support in Tuesday's election.

The persons to whom the telegrams were sent were urged to spread the report and to lend their aid to defeat the Democratic ticket. Democrats say that the dispatch is obviously of Republican origin. D. L. Collins himself being a life-long Republican, and sent out on the eve of the election so that it would be difficult to counteract its effect. Local Republicans expressed no surprise. They have been whispering for some that the leaders had an important card up their sleeve to play just before the election.

The indications are that Christian county Democrats will reduce the Republican majority of 1903 materially. That year it was 1019 and last year it was 474 for Moore over Stanley. The organization is good and the disaffection is smaller than for several campaigns. It is not unlikely that the Republican majority may be cut down to 500 or 600.

Local Polls.

There will be six polling places in Hopkinsville located at the same places where the Registration was held. The returns from the county and also from outside points will be received at Democratic headquarters.

WORD DOG

A bird dog belonging to Mr. D. L. Keith badly frightened Mrs. Jno. W. Mitchell Saturday evening. She encountered the dog on the street and becoming frightened at his rather queer action, screamed and turned to run when the dog reared up and clamped on the shoulder before his master could stop him. The dog appeared nervous and Mr. Keith is keeping him fastened up until it can be ascertained what caused his viciousness.

It is to learn as to the perfect standing and reliability of the leading manufacturers of medicinal agents, and the most important physicians are the most careful as to the uniform quality and perfect purity of remedies prescribed by them, and it is well known to physicians and the Well-Informed generally that the California Fig Syrup Co., by reason of its correct methods and perfect equipment and the ethical character of its product has attained to the high standing in scientific and commercial circles which is accorded to successful and reliable houses only, and, therefore, that the name of the Company has become a guarantee of the excellence of its remedy.

TRUTH AND QUALITY

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing, therefore we wish to call the attention of all who would enjoy good health, with its blessings, to the fact that it involves the question of right living with all the term implies. With proper knowledge of what is best each hour of recreation, of enjoyment, of the use of medicines dispensed with generally to great advantage, but as in many instances a simple, wholesome remedy may be invaluable if taken at the proper time, the California Fig Syrup Co. feels that it is alike important to present truthfully the subject and to supply the one perfect laxative remedy which has won the approval of physicians and the world-wide acceptance of the Well-Informed because of the excellence of the combination, known to all, and the original method of manufacture, which is known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

This valuable remedy has been long and favorably known under the name of—Syrup of Figs—and has attained to world-wide acceptance as the most excellent of family laxatives, and as its pure laxative principles, obtained from Senna, are well known to physicians and the Well-Informed of the world to be the best of natural laxatives, we have adopted the more elaborate name of—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as more fully descriptive of the remedy, but doubtless it will always be called for by the shorter name of Syrup of Figs—and to get its beneficial effects always note, when purchasing, the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package, whether you simply call for—Syrup of Figs—or by the full name—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—as—Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna—is the one laxative remedy manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. and the same heretofore known by the name—Syrup of Figs—which has given satisfaction to millions. The genuine is for sale by all leading druggists throughout the United States in original packages of one size only, the regular price of which is fifty cents per bottle.

Every bottle is sold under the general guarantee of the Company, filed with the Secretary of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., that the remedy is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of the Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906.

CHANGE OF HEART.

Sweet girl—I hope you will call again. Coolhead.

Mr. Coolhead (now admiring)—Thank you, I should be delighted to call very soon again, if I were sure of finding you at home.

"Oh, I'm nearly always at home; but—let me see—it won't do for you to call Tuesday evening for that is the night of the home mission meeting; and Wednesday night the Emperor's Dancers meet; and Thursday the Blue Ribbons have a most important session; and Friday is the monthly meeting of the Dorcas club; and Saturday the Bowling club—Really, I hardly know what day to set; but—"

"I'm—do you expect to belong to those societies always?"

"Oh, yes, indeed; I'm a life member of them all."

"Er—I should like to call again soon, but this is our busy season, and I shall be confined very closely to the office for several months. Good evening.—N. Y. Weekly.

CURE YOUR KIDNEYS.

Do Not Endanger Life When a Cure May Be Had.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a certain cure is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use, because it gives to the kidneys the help they need to perform their work.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney disease, cure yourself now, before diabetes, dropsy or Bright's disease sets in.

Leslie K. Hickman, living on Arch street, Madisonville, Ky., says: "I do not hesitate to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. I tasted their merits about three months ago and the results could not have been more satisfactory. I had pain through the small of my back directly over the kidneys which caused me considerable annoyance (stooping or straightening caused sharp twinges to catch me in the kidneys). I read about Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box. I noticed a decided improvement from the use of this box, and continued taking them, using a second box, which completely cured me. I have every confidence in Doan's Kidney Pills and cheerfully give them my recommendation."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The Practical View.
"Why don't I make him keep his distance?" repeated the practical young woman. "You know men better you wouldn't ask that question. There isn't one man in a thousand who will keep his distance without keeping his money also. What is a person to do?"

A Growing Institution.

Already the largest business school in the South, the Bowling Green Business University, is still growing. It is now enjoying the largest September attendance in its history. It has made good all its promises and pledges. Its graduates secure positions and hold them with credit to themselves and satisfaction to their employers. It advertises nothing it does not fulfill. In this way it has justly become the largest business school in the South. For information, address, Bowling Green Business University, Bowling Green, Kentucky.

LAST DESPERATE CAMPAIGN LIE BY REPUBLICANS REFUTED.

Driven to desperation by the great wave of feeling against their gubernatorial candidate as the result of the Democratic charge from the records, and his own admission of its truth, that Augustus E. Wilson is the hired attorney of the tobacco trust, the Republican leaders have attempted to drag their Democratic opponents down to their own deplorable level as the tools of corporate wealth by an insinuation that the Democratic party has at some time or another in the past accepted campaign contributions from such a source. Unable to prove such a base falsehood, they have relied upon the affidavit made by one of their candidates and upon the insinuations in political speeches by former Gov. Bradley, the attorney for the rectifiers and liquor interests, and by Mr. Wilson himself. This affidavit has proven a boomerang upon the Republican party, as did the charge of Mr. Wilson that William J. Bryan received pay for coming into Kentucky to make speeches in behalf of the Democratic state ticket. Every man named in the affidavit of having had connection in the remotest degree with the acceptance of tobacco trust money for Democratic campaign purposes brands the charges and insinuations as without foundation in fact. The people of Kentucky have only to read what good and responsible men have had to say to understand the source and the cause for this latest and probably last Republican campaign falsehood of this contest. Upon learning of the charge and insinuation Judge S. W. Hager, the leader of the Democracy in this fight, made the following statement: "Finding the sentiment throughout the tobacco regions of the state developing so overwhelmingly against him because of the admission of his employment as attorney for the tobacco trust, Mr. Wilson seeks to stay the tide of opposition which is about to sweep him down to ignominious and crushing defeat by repeating Bradley's insinuation that I had been the beneficiary of a campaign contribution from the tobacco trust. That insinuation is absurd as it is false and Mr. Wilson cannot escape the justified wrath of the tobacco growers by making such reckless and daring charges and insinuations."

THE CONDITION

Of Cumberland Presbyterian Churches.

In his report to the Synod of Kentucky, which held its annual meeting at Bowling Green last week, the Superintendent of Missions for the state outlined the conditions of the church numerically, before and since the union of the Cumberland and Northern Presbyterian bodies.

The Synod is composed of seven Presbyteries, and before the union had a membership of 11978. Of that number 2953 united with the Northern church, leaving the membership at 9025.

Cumberland Presbytery had 30 churches, 4 went out. Litchfield had 30, 1 went out. Logan had 44, 22 went out. Mayfield had 31, 1 went out. Owensboro had 19, 3 went out. Princeton had 36, 5 went out. Louisville had 12, 8 went out. Out of 84 Ministers, 55 went into the union.

The above gives the membership by churches, but, as we understand it, makes no allowance for loss to the Cumberland body where a membership was divided and part of them went into the united church.

IMPERIAL GETS 1907 CROP

FARMERS SATISFIED.

Arrangements Are Now Being Made To Sell Last Year's Crop.

Henderson, Ky., Nov. 1.—The Stemming District Tobacco Association today sold the entire crop of 1907 in this district. The crop was purchased by the Imperial Tobacco company. Mr. Elliott, the general manager of the company in this district is in England and the contract for the sale of this year's crop was signed in that country and notice of the sale was received here today.

All the tobacco sold was in the pool. The district includes Henderson, Webster, Union, Crittenden and Hopkins counties. The prices in today's sale were as follows: First grade—Leaf, $10; lugs, $10; trash, $4. Second grade $9, $9 and $3. Third grade—$8, $8 and $2. Fourth grade—$7, $7 and $2. It is estimated that there are sixteen million pounds in pool and the average price was 8 cents. The total price for the tobacco will be about $1,270,000.

The work of the "day riders" in marching through many of the counties and asking the companies not to buy the 1907 crop until last year's crop has been disposed of, did no not bear fruit. Today's sale, however, seems to be satisfactory to the farmers as arrangements are now on foot to sell the entire crop of last year. Nearly all the tobacco in the district was in pool.

Came Home to Vote.

Mr. Garner Dalton, who is always at home when there is any voting to be done, came in from Frankfort Friday night. Mrs. Dalton's health is such that she could not make the trip, though she is not seriously ill.

GHOST STORY.

That Mysterious Rain At Glasgow Junction.

Some of the Louisville daily papers have been exploiting, under scare head lines, what they termed a singular phenomena in the shape of a mysterious rain fall, at Glasgow Junction, apparently coming from a clear sky. At first the rain was confined to the locality of a certain tree, under which it was said a sensational murder had been committed some time in the past. Tourists and visitors flocked to this tree to witness the singular phenomena, and listened with bated breath to the weird story of the murder. Scientists were called on to explain, but all pronounced it a miracle beyond their ken. The little village of Glasgow Junction, Meigs' Hotel, and the Mammoth Cave, were incidentally getting a big lot of free advertising. Unfortunately, however, for the daily papers and their reporters and the sensation loving citizens, an unsophisticated farmer of the neighborhood chanced to be in the village one day, and was attracted to the "haunted tree" by the crowd there assembled and inquired the cause of the excitement. The situation was explained to him and his attention called to the drops of water falling under or through the tree, while the sun shone brightly in a clear sky.

This "hayseed" farmer had a more practical turn of mind than is good for sensational newspaper stories. He had "grewed up" among the trees and bugs of his farm in old "Barren county" and was not satisfied with the ghostly explanations given, concluded to "look a little in" for a sensible explanation. He soon discovered that the limbs of the "enchanted" tree were infested with a peculiar insect or bug which was puncturing the limbs and twigs with its sharp beak and thus allowing the sap to drop to the ground. Pointing out this explanation he turned in disgust from the gaping and disappointed crowd, mounted his mule and rode home. —Farmers Home Journal.

JEWELRY

NO BURLEY CROP

N. T. G. A. Says No Plants Shall Be Set Out.

Shelbyville, Ky., Nov. 1.—The National Tobacco Growers' Association today unanimously adopted a resolution declaring against the raising of a crop of burley tobacco next year. The adoption of the resolution as to the non-production of tobacco in the burley district sets at rest all doubts as to the attitude of the national association. It was pointed out that while there is an over-supply of tobacco in the burley district, there is a scarcity of the weed in the dark district and non-production would do more good there. The same is true of various other parts of the country to such an extent that unanimity on the part of the members of the National Tobacco Growers' association could not be secured on the non-production plan and the project would be a failure as a national movement. As the situation now stands without prospect of change, the only non-producing district will be the burley district, comprising over thirty counties in Kentucky, a few in Indiana and one or two in Ohio, Spencer, Warrick and Perry counties in Indiana are affected. The tobacco land will be planted in corn.

SYNOPSIS.

CHAPTER I.—Burton H. Barnes, a wealthy American touring Corsica, rescues the young English lieutenant, Edward Gerard Anstruther, and his Corsican bride, Marina, daughter of the Paoli, from the murderous vendetta, understanding that his reward is to be the hand of the girl he loves, Edith Anstruther, sister of the English lieutenant. The four fly from Ajaccio to Marseilles, on board the French steamer Constantine. The vendetta pursues and as the quartet are about to board the train for London at Marseilles, Marina is handed a mysterious note which causes her to collapse and necessitates a postponement of the journey.

CHAPTER II.—Barnes gets part of the mysterious note and receives letters which inform him that he is marked by the vendetta. He employs an American detective and plans to beat the vendetta at their own game. For the purpose of securing the safety of the women Barnes arranges to have Lady Charriss lease a secluded villa at Nice to which the party is to be taken in a yacht.

CHAPTER III.—Suspicion is created that Marina is in league with the Corsicans. A man, believed to be Coraggio Isabella, is seen passing the house and Marina is thought to have given him a sign. She refuses to explain to Barnes which fact adds to his latent suspicions.

CHAPTER IV.—Barnes plans for the safety of the party are learned by the Corsicans. The fugitives carrying the party to the local landing is followed by two men, are supposed to be the Corsicans and they try to murder the American. The cook on the yacht—a Frenchman—is suspected.

CHAPTER V.—The yacht is followed by a small boat. The cook is detected giving signals to the boat. Barnes attempts to throw him overboard, but is prevented by Marina and Edith.

CHAPTER VI.—The cook is found to be innocent of the supposed plot and is forgiven. The party arrive at Nice and find Lady Charriss and her daughter Maud domiciled in the villa rented by Barnes. Barnes is amazed to find that Count Coraggio Isabella is acting the role of admirer to Lady Charriss.

CHAPTER VIII.—The plot tightens about Barnes. He receives a note from La Belle Blackwood, an American adventuress and hears that Edith Anstruther, his wife, has been murdered by the Corsicans. He learns that the man supposed to be Coraggio, who followed the party on their way to the boat, was Edith's nephew of the count and that Count Coraggio had been in Nice for some time prior to the party's arrival. The count warns Barnes not to marry Edith unless he would have her also involved in the murderous feud.

CHAPTER IX.—Barnes and Edith are married. Soon afterward the bride disappears. Barnes discovers she has been kidnapped and takes to Corsica.

CHAPTER X.—The groom secures a fishing vessel and is about to start in pursuit of his bride's captors when he hears a shout from the sea and rushes to the beach. He hears that Anstruther's wife, Marina, is also missing. Barnes is compelled to part for Corsica without delay, and so he leaves the search for Marina to her husband while he goes to hunt for Edith. Just before Barnes' boat lands on Corsica's shore Marina is discovered hiding in a corner of the vessel. She explains her action by saying she has come to help Barnes to rescue his wife from the Corsicans.

CHAPTER XI.—When Barnes and Marina arrive in Corsica he is given a note written by Edith informing him that the kidnapping is for the purpose of entrapping Barnes, so the vendetta may kill him.

CHAPTER XII.—Barnes and Marina have unusual adventures in their search for Edith. They come in sight of her and her captors in the Corsican mountain wilds just as night approaches. In a moment a shower from a storm the couple enter a hermitage and there to their amazement they discover Tomaso, the foster father of Marina, who was supposed to have been killed by De Bello's soldiers, and for whose death Barnes had been vendettized.

CHAPTER XIII.—Tomaso learns that Marina's husband did not kill her brother. Many wrongs are righted. Barnes is surprised in the hermitage by Rochini and Romano, the two detected bandits, who had been searching for him to murder him for his money. The bandits attempt to take away Marina. Barnes dashes out the door. The bandits start after him, but as they reach the door they are laid low by Barnes' revolver. Members of the Belluccia enter and Barnes is honored for his great service to the community in killing the hated Rochini and Romano. The release of Edith is promised.

CHAPTER XIV.—Barnes is conveyed in triumph to Rocognano. Marina acquiesces the Belluccia with Ballotti's plot against her husband and the people are instructed to vote against him at the coming election. Barnes is taken to the mansion of the Paoli to meet Edith. Marina receives a telegram and starts for Bastia to meet her husband.

CHAPTER XV.—Entering the room to greet his wife Barnes is bewildered to find the adventures La Belle Blackwood, but not Edith. She had been substituted for the American's bride by a third plot. Edith Anstruther arrives to meet Marina and learns that she has been buried at sea by the telegram which had been sent by another without his knowledge. The two start in search of Marina.

CHAPTER XVI.—Barnes and Edith take different roads in their search. Edith is trapped in a tower where she is made prisoner. In endeavoring to escape she opens a trap door where she finds Edith, the detective, who had been imprisoned there previously. In another secret chamber Tomaso is found imprisoned. Edith is climbing the wall and enters the tower of a farm house where Marina and Count Danella are sitting and talking together.

"Where have you been all this time?" he asks eagerly.

"Following you ever since this morning, when the great Belluccia sent me on with these two gentlemen, his nephews, thinking that with their lives to deliver me safe into your hands, I came from Rocognano."

"And where were you two nights ago when I was seeking you there?"

"I was asleep; at Salicetti's home under the influence of a narcotic. Oh, mercy, don't look at me so," stammers Edith. "I was beneath the care of Salicetti's mother."

"Asleep under a narcotic?"

"Yes, when they were planning the attack for I was struggling so that Salicetti and his men forced an anodyne down my throat. When I became conscious, they told me that when the great Belluccia demanded my surrender Bernardo was afraid to explain to him, and some other woman was substituted for me. But when Salicetti learned that Bonelli for his debt had declared against him, the vendetta that meant his certain death, he went to the great bandit, confessed and surrendered me to him. Whereupon, with many kind words, Bonelli sent me to his dear friend, Edmund Barnes, of New York, the celebrated pistol shot."

"Oh, the most divine pistol shot upon earth," calls Marina, reaching out and embracing him. "By his skill, Burton has killed the man whose life forever would have been a menace to us. Then, gazing at Barnes, she laughs: "And I supposed you happy for the last twenty-four hours. You remember I left you going up to your wife's chamber in Rocognano."

"Going up to my chamber in Rocognano," almost yells the young English bride. "I cannot understand; I was asleep under opium in charge of Salicetti's mother."

"Oh, no, you were at my house. You were waiting for Burton in the guest chamber on the second floor. When Barnes went up to you—Good gracious, Edith, isn't it? Do you, what are you squeaking my hand so for?"

"Sally Blackwood," answers Burton boldly.

"La Belle Blackwood! Good Heaven! What brought her here?" Burton tears springing up in Edith's blue eyes. "She said she came to Rocognano to save my life from the vendetta. You remember she had warned me before, the other evening in Nice."

"Yes, I remember," she sighs; then adds more brightly, "I remember also, that you told me."

"The great trouble this time has Barnes so thoroughly appreciated the latent nobility of his sweet bride. She gazes at him anxiously, but only for a moment—the awful lines about her husband's face proclaiming his unrelenting pursuit of her for three merciless days and nights softens Edith's tender heart. She slips one arm about his neck and whispers:

"I shall never question you about this. If you feel you can kiss me, Burton, kiss me!" and for this gets a kiss which honest ardor makes her blush.

"Ah, that was one long husband's kiss," she says rapturously, and for the speech receives another that makes her tremble with joy.

Rushing to Marina, she cries: "Fancy, it was that awful La Belle Blackwood, who wanted to save Burton's life."

"I am very glad she didn't want to save my husband's life," laughs Marina.

"The superb Madame Blackwood," cries Rodrigo Bonelli, who with excited exclamation has with his brother been examining Barnes' shots, "has received my great uncle's favor and is about to become his spouse. Let no one mention her name lightly."

"The great bandit's bride!" half shrieks Edith.

"Yes, and that is why we must soon take our leave. To-morrow is their nuptial day in Rocognano."

Then the ladies get to discussing this wondrous news, and Barnes, leaning Edwin aside, whispers: "We must get the girls out of here quick. If we tamose now, probably the explosion of the tower and those bodies will be attributed to the riotous 'Lucchesi.'"

The American's tone is awed, he reflects that all this last dire episode of his life, no human being had ever fallen to his fatal pistol.

"By gum," remarks the detective, who is gaunt with much fasting, counting out of the house, "there was a fine supper for two setting there, with white flowers and champagne. I finished it all."

Marina's face flames. She knows for whom the nuptial dinner was designed, and as Edwin suggests leaving, cries: "Yes, quick, from this awful place."

"You're quite right—now get away smart—they may think it was bloody Italian," observes Emory, and makes himself useful helping the ladies down to the sea, to which some steep steps from the further side of the cliff lead them.

From a little jetty Barnes hauls a boat that is apparently in waiting from the fish boat, the captain of the craft who is in the boat's stern, he cries: "The 'Lucchesi' are making a row all along the coast. We must leave at once."

"Yes, the rocks that fell about us from the explosion told us that," answers the captain, anxious to leave this dangerous anchorage. But as the

"They are trying to protect their vine and crops from the 'Lucchesi.' We are not to wait for them. You remember, the count said a lady would be on board. Your charter money?"

"Oh, yes," cries the captain, pocketing some bills, "he has just rowed them to the fishing vessel where he orders his snail set."

Barnes tells the skipper to steer to Villefrance harbor. As he turns away Emory edges beside him and whispers: "This is the infernal felucca, in whose hold I languished about from St. Tropez."

"The two Belluccia have assisted the ladies to the deck."

"Now, gentlemen," asks Barnes of the young bandits, "what can I do for you for bringing me here?"

"Never up to this time has Barnes so thoroughly appreciated the latent nobility of his sweet bride."

She gazes at him anxiously, but only for a moment—the awful lines about her husband's face proclaiming his unrelenting pursuit of her for three merciless days and nights softens Edith's tender heart. She slips one arm about his neck and whispers:

Postal Office Here Still Closed But May Open This Week.

The Louisville Times said Friday that the differences between the striking telegraphers and the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies had been adjusted and that all the offices of both companies in Louisville would open for business Saturday.

The Postal company here has been closed since it was abandoned by Miss Cameron early after the strike went into effect, over two months ago. It is probable that the offices will be opened again this week, as Mr. Jesse Reeves, an experienced operator, was on the streets last week talking about the company reopening the Postal office. Mr. Reeves, we are told, was soliciting business for the company.

STATE DEVELOPMENT

Convention at Louisville Will be Notable Event.

The sixth annual State Development convention which will be held in Louisville on the 19th, 20th and 21st of this month will probably surpass in interest any event of the sort ever held in Kentucky. Strenuous efforts are being put forth by the local committee of arrangements in Louisville and the members of the executive committee of the Kentucky State Development Association throughout the state.

Invitations are daily being sent to the well known speakers on all topics of interest throughout the country and the latest acceptance received is from the Honorable James B. McCreary. Senator McCreary, as is well known, has devoted considerable attention in the United States Senate to the subject of the Panama Canal and he has therefore, consented to address the convention on the Panama Canal and its effect on the trade and industries of the southern states. The fact that Senator McCreary's services have been obtained for the convention, is a matter of gratification to President E. J. McDermott and his assistants. He is greatly pressed for time but agreed to speak because of the importance of this gathering of representative Kentuckians.

Much work is being done by the committees on invitation and delegates. Throughout the state hundreds of prominent men have been urged to take a part in the work of securing a proper representation on the floor of the convention from each county and a gratifying interest has been shown.

The relation of the press to the progress of Kentucky will receive considerable attention on the programme of the convention and Mr. Lew B. Brown President of the Kentucky Press Association is to make a speech on this subject. Mr. Brown's knowledge of his topic is intimate and his discussion on the subject should do much to harmonize the effects of the press and other various factor's in Kentucky's progress.

It is the earnest wish of the convention workers to have on hand a big gathering of Kentucky's men to hear these profitable discussions.

WANT CONTROL.

Cumberland Presbyterians Going After School.

The Kentucky Synod, which met at Bowling Green last week, took steps looking to a vigorous effort to regain control of the school at Auburn formerly under its immediate direction. In the resolution adopted in the proceedings these words were used: "Your board of trustees of your school at Auburn, Ky., have proven unfaithful as Cumberland Presbyterians." And further: "We now declare the office of trustees vacant."

Revs. S. H. Eashmore, W. J. Haden, A. C. Biddle and H. M. Guynn were appointed as a new board of trustees. The new board of trustees was directed in the same resolution to organize at once and make a demand for possession of the property and to hold themselves in readiness to take such steps as may be necessary to get possession of the property. After the close of the Synod J. T. Barbee, of Owensboro, was re-elected as Synodical Superintendent for another year.

The meeting of the Synod will be held in this city on the third Tuesday in October, 1908.

J. D. Lester, the youngest attorney of the Ekton bar, died Saturday afternoon of typhoid fever at the home of his father, Robt Lester, near Guthrie.

Pembroke a Stronghold

Pembroke is noted for its strong faith in Democratic principles, and from the large contingent here Saturday, it is presumed that they will about all take theirs "straight" to-day.

Residence Sold.

J. F. Ellis has sold the Sam D. Wilson property on Walnut street to T. M. Green, of Muhlenberg county.

Walnut Wine.

To a gallon of water put two pounds of brown sugar and one pound of honey, boil this mixture for half an hour, carefully removing all scum; put into a tub a large handful of walnut leaves and pour the hot liquor upon them; let them stand a night and then squeeze out the leaves and cut in two very wet ones. Let it work for a week, stirring four or five times a day, then stir up the cask and let stand six months. This is a supposed remedy for consumption and, as it is quantity termed, "all inward complaints."

Filling for Cream Puffs.

Wet three tablespoonfuls of flour to a paste with a little cold water and stir into a cupful of hot milk. Boil for a minute, stirring to prevent lumps, then turn to a fire and pour gradually, upon three beaten eggs and a half-cup of powdered sugar, whipping these all the time. Stir over the fire until thick and smooth, remove, flavor with vanilla, and, when cold, put into the puffs.

Pudding Sauce.

Warm in a saucepan a quarter pint of milk. Mix a dessertspoonful of cornstarch with a little milk and stir this into the milk in the saucepan. Continue stirring until it boils and is about as thick as cream, then add a dessertspoonful of sugar and a small piece of butter. Pour this around a pudding just before serving.

Fried Tomatoes.

Slice the tomatoes into thick pieces and fry in butter until done. Transfer to a hot platter, sprinkle with salt and pepper and keep hot while you add to the butter in which they were fried a tablespoonful of flour and a pint of milk, cook, stirring, to a smooth, white sauce and pour over the tomatoes.

Sponge Cake.

Weigh ten eggs, allow their weight in sugar, and half their weight in flour. Beat the whites and yolks separately, adding the sugar to the yolks with the juice and half the grated peel of a lemon, then the flour, folding in at the last the stiffened whites. Bake at once in a loaf-pan in a steady oven.

German Flour Soup.

Cook together in a frying pan a tablespoonful of shortening and flour, and when well blended add a sliced or minced onion; fry this to a golden brown, then stir in five cups of soup stock or warm water, stir until thick, pour over a beaten egg and add salt, pepper and nutmeg to taste.

Bodkin Substitute.

Safety-pins are good substitutes when a bodkin is not handy, but easier still are correct laces of cotton, linen, silk or elastic, according to the use for which they are intended. By means of the metal ends these can be used for drawstrings.

Athletics.

South Kentucky College was defeated at Clarksville Saturday by the S. P. U. football team by 17 to 0. They played on a wet field against a much heavier team.

The High School team did not go to Madisonville Friday, on account of the hard rains. They may go later. Charles Maccham, one of the best players, had a leg sprained in the Bowling Green game and is still unable to play.

Michigan defeated Vanderbilt at Nashville Saturday by 8 to 0. A good many Hopkinsville people went over to see the game between professional teams.

The second High School played the Virginia school team Saturday and won by 16 to 4.

Bitten By Dog.

J. W. Allen Attacked By a Vicious Brute.

J. W. Allen, of 614 South Clay street, went into his back yard Sunday night when a large white dog, pressing on the premises sprang upon him and bit him savagely in the face, making several slight flesh wounds. He fought the dog off and went to a physician who dressed the wounds.

Testing At Casky.

A protracted meeting began at Casky Baptist church Sunday. Rev. W. H. Vaughn, the pastor, will be assisted by Rev. Kuykendall, of Tennessee.

THE INCANDESCENT

St. Clair

This is by far the best and most economical burner in existence. It is absolutely air tight and will hold fire for 24 to 36 hours. Will burn slack as well as lump coal. The cut above shows the sectional fire pot with slotted linings, an entirely new feature in heating stoves. All grades of soft and also slack coal can be burned in this fire pot without smoke or soot.
